

Maale Levona

SAVING PRECIOUS LIVES

It is a biblical imperative to safeguard human life (Deuteronomy 4:15). For the people of isolated Maale Levona, surrounded by hostile Arab villages on all sides, abiding by this commandment requires constant vigilance. Thankfully, local security personnel have been able to thwart recent attacks without injury or loss of life, but future success is not guaranteed. The lives of the men, women, and children of Maale Levona are under constant threat, and they are not willing to gamble on precious lives.

In recent years, Maale Levona has experienced booming growth, with new idealistic couples opting to sacrifice comfort and convenience for a higher purpose—raising their children with a deep and genuine connection to Biblical values and the Land of Israel. Their shared ideology has fueled a warm community, bubbling with rich and rewarding fellowship. But without proper protection or equipment, their lives are under constant threat of harm.

Maale Levona's electronic fence only detects threats once they were underway. To truly save lives, a comprehensive surveillance system is vital to alert first responders to potential attacks when intruders were still in a buffer zone. Last year, with help from generous CFOIC Heartland donors, Maale Levona successfully completed phase 1 of their system, installing cameras at the entrance to the community, and infrastructure for the entire system. This year, they need help purchasing five surveillance cameras for critical points around the community's perimeter, and a building to house the servers.

For security screening purposes, Maale Levona's main entrance has an electric security gate which opens automatically for cars leaving the community, but relies on a quick security check for entering cars. There is an urgent need to replace the security gate, as the existing gate is old and extremely slow, delaying security checks and causing traffic jams. With a forest located just outside Maale Levona the community is also vulnerable to arson terrorist attacks. In Judea and Samaria, Jewish communities often fall victim to fires started by hostile Arabs at the communities' perimeter that spread to homes and endanger lives. To defend against such attacks Maale Levona needs your help to install a fire hydrant near the local forest.

Maale Levona needs to purchase surveillance cameras, replace its security gate, and install a fire hydrant to protect its families from terrorist attacks. Living in an isolated and vulnerable area, these idealistic pioneers are motivated by their unwavering commitment to fulfilling Biblical prophecy and settling Biblical Israel. Your support will ensure their safety and save lives!
