GIVE ISRAEL'S GUARDIANS THE GIFT OF MOBILITY

In January, an Israeli man was brutally stabbed and wounded in the head during a terror attack in the Hebron Hills. While the victim managed to survive the assault, the incident is just one of the countless others that the people of Hebron Hills endure on a daily basis.

The Hebron Hills region surrounding the city of Hebron has gained notoriety for its extremist and violent Arab population. Jewish pioneers living in the Hebron Hills have endured a relentless onslaught of terror attacks in recent years, including shootings, kidnappings, arson, infiltrations of Jewish communities, and even murder. Stone-throwing at passing Jewish cars is a favorite sport among many Arab teens. The lack of proper security measures and surveillance equipment leaves these vulnerable pioneers in a constant state of fear and uncertainty.

The Hebron Hills Regional Council is responsible for overseeing the various emergency teams and supporting security activities for the small communities in the region. From patrolling the rugged terrain of the Judean hills to responding to urgent emergencies, the Hebron Hills security department must be ready to handle any situation that arises. This is why an all-terrain vehicle is essential for effectively patrolling the expansive region, allowing for quick and safe access to even the most remote hills and valleys where terrorists may be plotting attacks. The vehicle must also be capable of handling a variety of driving conditions, including snowy weather in the winter months. Additionally, given the sensitive security needs in the area, the vehicle must be equipped with emergency lights and towing capabilities.

As the nature of terrorist threats continues to evolve in the region, security measures must adapt accordingly. The new vehicle must be equipped with a rugged topper for transporting essential medical and search and rescue equipment. Last year, thanks to generous CFOIC Heartland donors, the Hebron Hills Regional Council was able to purchase a much-needed radio system for their medical emergency team members. This year, there is an urgent need to replace a worn-out security vehicle with a new truck equipped with a rugged topper and emergency equipment.

The Hebron Hills Regional Council critically needs your help to purchase a security truck for patrolling and responding to threats in the area. With your generous contribution, security personnel will have the necessary resources to quickly and effectively respond to security threats and emergencies. Your gift today will keep the men, women, and children safe as they strive to fulfill Biblical prophecy in the Heartland of Israel. Your donation will help save lives!
